

Bring Your Own Device ft. Communication

Harmen Neidig

Deputy Principal of the Pallas Athene College

Duisburg 25-09-2014

On your marks...

Front

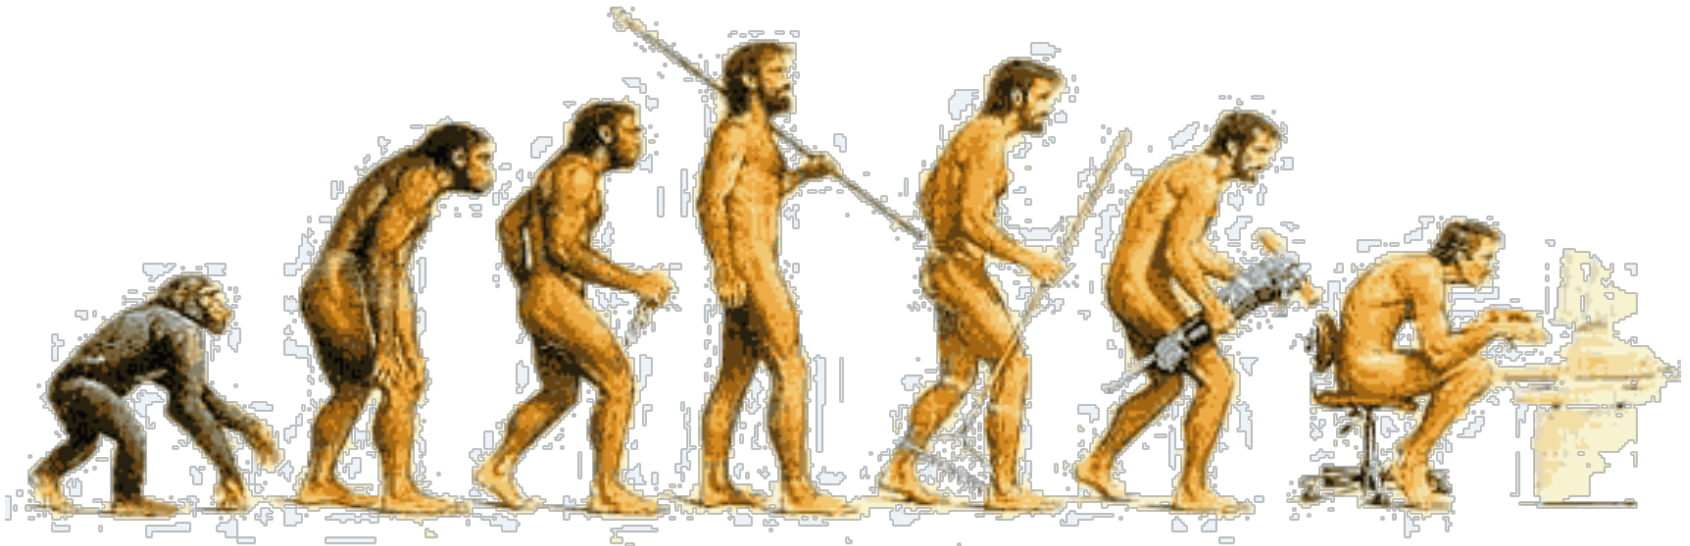

Tablet 1

Back

Communication

Is partly “technology driven”

Get set...

Communicaton

Different values due to different standards

Go!...

Not just one device...

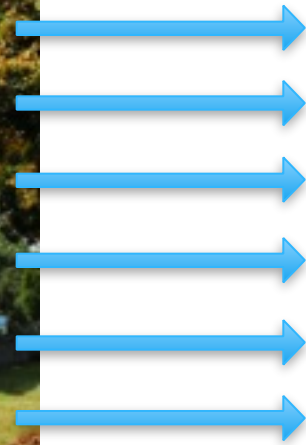

But all!

Bring Your Own Device

Some basics

Some basics

Direct influence on investments

- Investments are part of schools own policy
- IT as a unique selling point
- Choices to be made

Choices for the Pallas Athene College

- The educational goal is leading
- Safe and regulated usage

Choices for the Pallas Athene College

- Infrastructure should not be a hindrance
- Wireless connections everywhere
- Harmony between tablets, smartphones, - iMacs and PC's

Choices for the Pallas Athene College

Development in three years

To experiment with

1. Private IT (Bring Your Own Device)
2. Usage of IT by teachers
3. IT-experts
4. Knowledge community

Development in three years

Research

iXPERIUM

Marijke van Vijfeijken & Huub Braam
iXperium/Centre of Expertise leren met ict Kenniscentrum Kwaliteit van Leren HAN commissioned by

Usage of Private IT in class

	Pallas Athene College
	june'13 N=25	June '14 N=184
Never / Almost never	76%	58%
At least once every month	24%	42%

Teacherskills in IT

	Pallas Athene College
	N=15 October '12	N=11 June '13	N=8 June '14
Novice user	47%	18%	0%
Average user	27%	18%	13%
Power user	27%	64%	88%

Studentsprofile media-usage

	Pallas Athene College
	N=84 October '12	N=25 June '13	N=184 June '14
Traditional	18%	12%	13%
Gamer	16%	16%	19%
Networker	42%	60%	54%
Producer	24%	12%	15%

Qualitative change

- Experts and starters get together
- Rethinking is the standard
- Homework and planning are carried out digitally
- New methods are more interactive
- No more “must-do” but “will-do”

Last but not least...

Every way of communication is valuable in our shared goal:

Excellent education!

THANK YOU!

Bring Your Own Device
ft. Communication

Harmen Neidig

Deputy Principal of the Pallas Athene College

Duisburg 25-09-2014